

BRAND ANALYTICS

Multi-location reputation monitoring for brands and franchises

A local look at the bigger picture

It doesn't matter how much money you pour into national advertising campaigns, customers are still going to judge your brand by how clean the bathroom is at the closest location. And you can be certain they're going to make their opinions known.

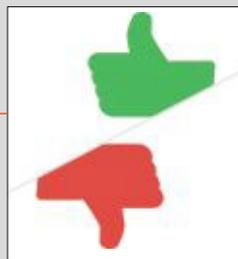

Brand Analytics allows you to understand how your locations are performing on an individual basis. With our interactive wrap-up reports, you can dig down to see the aggregate rating of a particular store over the last month, or see how different regions compare to one another.

Our tool also allows you to post to individual social accounts, allowing you to quickly author posts for all of your stores, certain regions, or individual locations.

1 Review comparison and management

Check out the latest 1-star and 5-star reviews, compare scores between locations and identify the best and worst performers enabling you to better focus your time and effort.

2 Listing visibility and accuracy

See how and where your locations are listed on directories, review sites and social networks. Visualize improvement over time, and discover which regions and locations are most visible.

3 Post to multiple social accounts

Is there a sale you'd like to promote in one territory but nowhere else? Compose and schedule posts across the right social media channels to individual locations, regions or your entire chain.
